Veto threat withdrawn for schools

BOISE (UPI)—Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said Thursday he will allow the public school and public health appropriations to become law without his signature even though he vetoed them once before.

Both houses of the Idaho Legislature Wednesday approved, under suspension of rules, appropriations for those two-purposes which were identical to ones okayed in regular session and vetoed by Andrus.

In vetoing the $44 million general fund appropriation for the schools and the $9.1 million appropriation for public health Andrus said they were too small. He asked in an amended call for the special session last Monday for increases in both.

After caucuses, the Republicans—who control both houses—said Andrus failed to provide a suitable method of funding any increases and said they would have to re-run the ones he vetoed. They did so Wednesday.

"I can't in good conscience sign such appropriations," Andrus told United Press International in an interview. "But it would be a waste of my time, the legislature's time and the people's money to discuss it further in these hallowed halls of the legislature."

He said he included the proposed increases in his special session call in "good faith," adding, "I had quite a few members of the other side of the aisle in this office, asking me to do what I did."

"When it came to a vote," the Democratic governor said, "they didn't vote the way they were talking."

Andrus said he believed the thing he feared when he vetoed the school appropriation will now come to pass—"the people in the local areas of the state are going to be asked once again to fund education with increased property tax."

But he said that while the schools still have a way of getting operating money, public health does not. He pointed out the State Health Board cannot get help from the property tax

Jordan strikes draw Syrian ire

By United Press International

Syria warned Jordan today that new strikes by King Hussein's troops against Arab guerrilla bases in Jordan will have "serious consequences."

Jordan accused Syria of allowing guerrillas to shell Jordanian territory from the Syrian side of the border.

The official Jordanian News agency also said an "infantry force" crossed into a North Jordan village Wednesday but was given back into Syria by Jordanian forces. It did not say if the infantry force was Syrian or from the Palestinian Liberation Army.

Jordan has been threatened by renewed civil war since last Friday when government troops carried out what Egypt and other Arab nations called a "massacre" of guerrilla forces at Irbid. There was renewed violence in Amman today.

The Jordanian agency said Syrian-based Palestinian guerrillas shelled five north Jordan villages Wednesday with rockets and mortars and that the village of Sama el Sudud was hit by heavy machinegun fire.

Riad emerged today from a conference with President Georges Pompidou and with a broad smile claimed victory in his campaign.

Second victim passes

small van-type vehicle which crashed into a concrete abutment on U.S. Highway 93 southwest of Twin Falls during a severe windstorm Tuesday night died in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. His passenger died in the wreckage.

Glenn Clifford Spicer, 20, Van

Nuys, Calif., is the latest victim. He died of injuries about 4 p.m. Wednesday in the local hospital.

Bruce David Wise, 22, Encino, Calif., died Tuesday night when he was pinned in the wreckage of the vehicle. State police said a gust of wind apparently caught the vehicle and whipped it out of control and caused it to strike the concrete abutment beside the highway. The accident occurred at 10:45 p.m. two miles south of the junction of Highways 93 and 30 west of

Twin Falls.

The driver was thrown from the vehicle and had been listed in critical condition in the hospital.

State Patrolman William Green said Wise had been riding in another vehicle and had joined Spicer at Jackpot, Nev.

They were traveling in one of several vehicles en route from California to Montana.

County Coroner Joyce Edwards said both men died of head injuries. Their bodies were taken to White Mortuary where arrangements are being made for returning them to California.

Battistuzzi said he will return

City tags fire chief

TWIN FALLS

Effective today, Bobby K. Bopp becomes acting fire chief in Twin Falls, following the retirement of Fire Chief L. Z. (Zekie) Bartlett.

Bopp had been assistant fire chief for about 18 years.

Bartlett, who retires following his 65th birthday anniversary, will remain on duty in an advisory capacity during the coming month.

At the end of that time, Gene Milar, city manager said, a permanent appointment will be made.

Milar said employee regulations for the city allow retiring officials to remain briefly in consulting or advisory capacity.

Bopp joined the department Feb. 10, 1946 as a fireman and Bartlett is active in the LDS Church Second Ward, currently serving as leader of the high priest group of that ward. He is a member of the Twin Falls Lions Club. He is the father of six sons

T.F. county spring cleaning May 8

TWIN FALLS — Spring cleaning across Twin Falls County is planned May 8 in the second annual county-wide campaign. W. L. (Bill) Chancey, county commission chairman, said today.

He said a planning meeting Wednesday night in the judicial building brought out good support from youth groups, service clubs and the National Guard and Army Reserve units which should assure an outstanding program this year.

Persons attending the meeting selected areas where their groups and organizations will work and in general are following the same system as

last year.

Chancey said he and other commissioners, Heber Loughmiller and Meri Leonard, will work with Bob Brock, Bureau of Land Management, to head the program and share chairman support from youth groups, service clubs and the National Guard and Army Reserve units which should assure an outstanding program this year.

Persons attending the meeting selected areas where

last year.

Groups who have already volunteered, Chancey said, include the National Guard, Army Reserve, with heavy equipment, Camp Fire Girls, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, 4-H Clubs, Soil Conservation Districts with 20 to 30 workers and pickup trucks donated by farmers; Twin Falls Canal Co., with equipment volunteered by manager Al Peters; equipment and men from the Twin Falls and File Highway Districts; manpower from the Civil Air Patrol, and U.S. Forest Service.

Represented at the meeting Wednesday night were Buhl Chamber of Commerce officials, service clubs from throughout the county and many interested organizations.

Chancey said everyone will be given an opportunity to assist and groups or individuals may still volunteer by calling the county commissioners or BLM office in Burley.

Plans are to use manpower to collect trash and debris from along all main roads and highways and volunteer trucks to pick it up from assembly points and haul it to county dump grounds.

Following the work party, beginning in the morning, a picnic lunch will be served at the Filer fairgrounds for all workers.

Chancey said a number of problems faced last year have been cleared up. There will be less debris because of the work day last year. Many of the large items such as old car bodies were disposed of a year ago and now appears it will be a two-county effort and he hopes it can spread throughout the southern part of the state.

The program, he said, is

Collision injures Gem men

TWIN FALLS — Two men remained in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital today, one in serious condition, as a result of a two-car crash Wednesday night at the intersection of Kimberly Road and Eastland Drive.

Sheriff's officers said the two were drivers of the vehicles and each was alone in his automobile.

In serious condition in the intensive care unit at the hospital is Charles R. Knuth, 26, Coeur d'Alene. Listed in fair condition is Paul E. Donnelly, 53, Route 2, Twin Falls.

Officers said the Knuth vehicle was traveling west on Kimberly Road, entering Twin Falls. The Donnelly vehicle crossed Kimberly Road, going south on Eastland Drive and collided with the other vehicle.

Officers said they were unable to determine if the Donnelly vehicle had stopped at the intersection and then pulled into the path of the oncoming vehicle.

Both men suffered severe face and head cuts and other multiple injuries, officers said.

City and county officers investigated the accident and a fire engine was called from the Twin Falls City Fire Department.

Spiro claims critics hide good Viet news

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said today the good news about U.S. servicemen fighting in Vietnam is overshadowed by "the masochistic, guilt-ridden view" of a minority of congressmen and Americans.

He said "negative" criticism of the war effort and "indifference or hostility in the general public" has put an extra burden on the 2.4 million Americans who have fought in Southeast Asia since 1964.

"Your unstinting service as volunteers to our 165 veterans hospitals — which I am informed amounts to some $9 million donated hours a year — deserves the gratitude of the entire nation."

Agnew criticized "some of the leading members of the United States, prestigious columnists and news commentators, academic figures, some church organizations" for statements on the Vietnam War that he said have damaged the morale of U.S. servicemen as effectively as if it had come from "Hanoi Hannah."

The vice president said "incredibly" Vietnam veterans have been "stereotyped — falsely stereotyped let me emphasize — as drug addicts and cold-blooded criminals because of the negative propaganda mounted by critics of this war."

"FIVE ACES," one of the art works auctioned Wednesday night by the Twin Falls Junior Club, was created by Jim Newton using an antique bottle, shot glass and hammerless pistol. Annual art auction brings club $3,500 to aid library

TWIN FALLS — The highest bid was $350 for one item, with 41 items auctioned during the Twin Falls Junior Club's annual Art Auction Wednesday night at Blue Lakes Country Club. Jim Messersmith and John Wert, who donated their services as auctioneers, brought the total amount to $3,500 from the 200 persons attending the benefit event. All items were created and donated by Magic Valley businessmen.

The $350 item was made by Duane Wubker, Twin Falls, a burnt redwood chess table with large redwood chessmen, and purchased by Bill Floyd, Kimberly.

Gov. Cecil Andrus, although unable to attend, sent his contribution for the sale, an autographed document with the inscription, "My Latest Creation," — his budget.

Another contribution that was a bit unusual was brought by Leon Smith. It was a German Shorthair puppy, tucked neatly in a basket with a ribbon tied around its neck.

According to Mrs. Joy Nielsen, general chairman of the event, the proceeds will be given to the Twin Falls Public Library for items needed over and beyond the current expenses covered in its budget.

It has been suggested by Junior Club members the library purchase a microfilm machine to help alleviate some of the problems in the overcrowded rooms. The room downstairs, across from the children's library, is packed with magazines and articles which could be microfilmed. These films can be stored in a small area, leaving most of the room for other uses. Part of this room could then be used to set up facilities and a library for the blind, she said.

Proceeds from the Junior Club's tour of homes were also given to the library and used to redecorate and remodel the children's room.

Primitive area brochures available

TWIN FALLS — Brochures on the proposed designation of the Sawtooth Primitive Areas as a wilderness area which will be reviewed in a public hearing May 4 in Sun Valley are now available from the Sawtooth National Forest Offices in Twin Falls.

Supervisor E. A. Fournier said Regional Forester Vern Hamre has announced plans for hearings in Sun Valley and Boise, with the first May 3 in Boise and the second on the following day at 9 a.m. in the Opera House in Sun Valley. The Boise hearing begins at 9 a.m. in the Rodeway Inn.

Certain boundary changes in the present primitive area will be made in the proposed wilderness area designation.

Maps and brochures available from the regional office in Ogden, Utah, and the supervisor's offices in Boise, Chancery, and Twin Falls explain these changes and the provisions of the Wilderness Act passed by Congress in 1964 under which the change is proposed.

Under this act, the U.S. Forest Service is required to study all primitive areas and conduct public hearings on their possible suitability for wilderness classification and incorporation into the National Wilderness Preservation System, Hamre said.

The regional forester said the forest service is proposing, subject to existing valid rights, to withdraw from all forms of appropriation under the mining laws and from disposition under any laws pertaining to mineral leasing.

As proposed, the wilderness area would be about 30 miles in length and 18 miles across, taking in the rugged scenic primitive area Oct. 13, 1937.

Five acres now in the primitive region are proposed for exclusion from the wilderness. These include the North Fork of the Boise River, Sawtooth Mountains. It is under the administration of the Boise, Challis and Sawtooth National Forests. It was classified as a high pass area: Queens River, Greycliff Mountain, Pettit Lake and Alpine Creek, and the South Fork of the Payette River.

Calley relief sought

BOISE (UPI) — A group of concerned Boiseans calling themselves "citizens for the amnesty for Lt. William Calley Jr." gathered at the Boise State College Student Union Wednesday night in an effort to circulate petitions to be sent to President Nixon.

The small crowd of 20 persons, ranging from college students to recent war veterans to older persons, urged support for Calley, who was sentenced Wednesday to life imprisonment for the premeditated murders of 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai in 1968.

Veterans of Foreign Wars Idaho Adjutant Dale Will, Boise, said "I personally thought the sentence was a lousy deal. Our organization is strictly against this. We are not at all satisfied with the conviction."

The VFW has a 6,500 membership, but Will said no action had as yet been planned. "We have a lot of Vietnam War veterans in our organization," he added.

Spending Curb?

Everyone agrees the high cost of campaigning has kept going higher and that it should be reduced drastically for the good health of the body politic.

President Nixon in his latest television interview disclosed that it cost him $25,000 to run for Congress back in 1946 and that the current cost would be on the order of $100,000. The 1968 presidential campaign cost the Republicans $24 million, the Democrats $11 million.

The dangers in excessive spending to gain office and power are obvious. But Congress has always been very reluctant to regulate its own house. Its willingness to adopt stringent or meaningful enforceable limits on campaign spending is by no means assured.

President Nixon said the subject would come before the Senate in the next few months and that the Administration would review its position when the bill by Minority Leader Hugh Scott is considered.

Senator Scott's bill has one big weakness. It does not set a ceiling on campaign expenditures. It also would require low rates for political time and space in the media, a provision of doubtful constitutionality. His bill does have the merit of requiring full disclosure of campaign spending and it would repeal the unfruitful equal time provision for presidential and vice presidential candidates.

When he vetoed last year's measure to limit broadcast outlays, President Nixon said he did so because it closed only one door while leaving all others open.

An adequate measure would reduce the exorbitant cost of running for office by setting enforceable ceilings and limiting the amount a contributor could give.

One of the most practical approaches to the problem would be to shorten the time between nomination and election. Yet California legislators recently rejected a proposed September primary. Short campaigns are the rule in Britain and the British experience recommends them.

Otherwise, the candidates will continue to saturate the air-waves whatever the cost. Senator John Tunney, D-Cal., testified before a Senate committee his winning campaign cost $1.4 million. He still owes a few hundred thousand which he hopes his supporters will contribute.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Barrel-chested Sen. Harold Hughes of Iowa is the outsider among Democratic presidential prospects who ought to be most feared by other outsiders. And there are signs that at least one, Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana, recognizes that threat.

Hughes should be feared by the second-timers because several influential Democrats get quickly to him when they wonder where to go should front-running Sen. Edmund Muskie falter. They don't put the knock on Sen. George McGovern, but not many think he is going far.

Hughes has to be reckoned with, first off, because he has the tough look and the booming voice that make him a commanding "presidential" presence. His profile is ready now for a new dime.

Given this equipment, he makes a pretty good dent on any kind of audience, including the self-styled political sophisticates he addressed in Boston at an Americans for Democratic Action dinner.

In that speech, Religious fundamentals were a stout thread. He invoked the Creator and called for the spiritual unity of our country. If Muskie or Sen. Hubert Humphrey or President Nixon spoke thus, one easily could expect snorts of derision.

Hughes got away with it. By a curious process of transference, his evangelistic politics strikes many liberals as the New Politics. He throws out enough ADA-grabbers on the war, the blacks, the students and even the hard hats to keep his liberal credentials burnished.

Yet a careful look at his comment turns up nuggets of nearconservatism. Example from Boston:

"We need to rid ourselves of our own hostilities and resentments and to quit seeking scapegoats, whatever group it might be, on whom to blame the inaction of our society . . ."

Not much solace there for students, blacks or others who think that voicing outrage and pinning blame should be the big 1971 melody. Moreover, the religious tone must have its pull on the middle. And beyond doubt, Harold Hughes just looks central.

All this gives the frets to Birch Bayh, another prominent outsider, who is traveling the nation on a schedule any professional basketball team would find hard to match.

Bayh talked to a group of affluent Jewish lawyers in a Boston suburb the morning after Hughes did his ADA thing. Rolling away from the Jewish meeting, Bayh mused:

"I'm wondering if Birch Bayh competes when he talks to a group like that while Harold Hughes is talking to a thousand people at an ADA dinner."

His concern is understandable. He would not be trying if he didn't think there was a good chance Muskie might slip. He dismisses McGovern as a probable non-winner. It is disconcerting to hear Hughes touted as the best backup prospect, as the man with something different who might suit a nation said to be verging toward a strong untraditional political mood.

Obviously, Bayh has persuaded some influential and moneyed people that he does have potential. One rival privately says he thinks Bayh in 1971 is better financed than any candidate. A prominent Democrat rates the senator's organization better than Muskie's and nearly as big.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

That Lump

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have any sign of cancer, he will investigate accordingly, but in all probability you'll just put an end both to the nuisance in the armpit and the worries in your mind.

Not long ago I really squeezed it until it hurt. The next day the area was quite sore, and because it had become such a lump, I squeezed it again. This time pus and blood came out of it.

This scared me and now I wonder if I have really done damage to myself. I'm afraid of cancer, of course, and wonder if what I did can cause cancer.

After a week the lump is still there but some of the swelling has gone down. Mrs. F.M.

You make no mention of having seen a doctor, so I take the liberty of wondering whether some of what you say is guesswork. That is, how do you know the cyst is in the "lymph gland"?

If it is in the gland, then you'd better have some very specific diagnosis, because that could be significant. And dangerous.

More likely, from your letter, I would suspect that the cyst may be in a sebaceous gland in the skin, which is quite a different matter. (The lymph glands aren't the only glands in the armpit!)

Was what you squeezed out of it really pus — or was it instead the waxy, whitish sebum produced by the skin gland?

On the next-to-last squeezing, you probably broke down some of the tissues and perhaps started a minor infection (a major infection would have flared into more trouble than you had).

My advice: quit squeezing the thing. It will just fill up again in time — and someday, in the squeezing process, you may start an infection that will really give you some misery.

The probability of cancer is remote although not impossible. Since the gland has been filling and discharging for years, you can expect it to keep on doing so and perhaps getting worse, certainly not better.

So have your doctor take a look, with a view to removing that annoying sebaceous gland. If my surmise as to its identity is correct. Naturally, if there is

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Do we keep the same blood type we were born with? Or does it change throughout the years? — T.Y.

It remains the same throughout life — except that in certain unusual cases there may be an apparent, and temporary, change — as after a transfusion, or blood that does not precisely match.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: After having used a pressure cooker for years, I am now concerned because I have read that "steam pressure cooking depletes both enzymes and vitamins in foods; minerals, too, are washed and evaporated away." Can you advise if this is true? — L.B.V.

I think somebody is misinterpreting something, but I'm not sure who. Steam pressure cooking uses a minimum amount of water, and minerals, as well as the A, B and D vitamins, would be in the liquid, which can be used as gravy.

The heat could destroy enzymes and vitamin C although the loss of vitamin C has been shown to be less than when cooking in an open pan. Anyway, vitamin C is more readily provided by citrus fruits and vegetables.

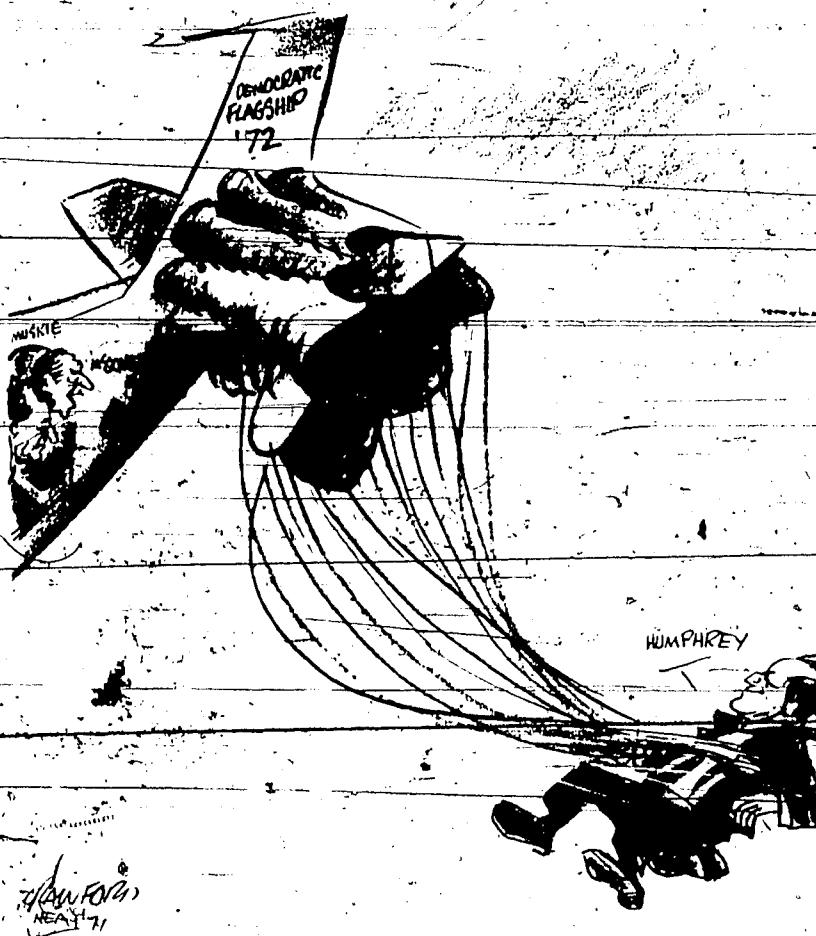

Pressure cooking also tends to make meat more tender, and I see no valid reason for not cooking by that method.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for the booklet "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 15 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters.

Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

About Mexico

WASHINGTON — By their heavy-handed attempt to fan unrest in Mexico with Communist-trained student guerrillas, the Russians may have compromised one of their major clearing-houses for espionage and propaganda activity in the western hemisphere.

That is certainly the hope of authorities here. There is, happily, reason to believe that the Mexican government will henceforth be much more interested in the activities which are centered in the Soviet embassy in Mexico City.

For years the large staff of that Soviet embassy has been viewed by the intelligence community here as a major Kremlin intelligence installation. The embassy has been identified as the administrative center for KGB activity in Central America and a portion of South America.

More importantly, the quondam Russian diplomats in Mexico City have been assumed to support much of the illicit activity in the United States. The embassy is said to have operated as a haven and listening post and for underground entry to and exit from the U.S.

The embassy staff, numbering more than 60 at times (not counting wives, who are sometimes intelligence experts in their own right) was first assumed to specialize in hemispheric intelligence work because its size was wholly disproportionate to the rather routine chore of representing Russia in Mexico.

A year ago, as we have since reported, a lady translator defected from the embassy and subsequently identified eight of nine members of a Soviet trade mission as undercover intelligence agents.

Despite these assumptions, widely held around the world, Mexico had always given Moscow the benefit of the diplomatic doubt. What had not been proven was not presumed by the Mexico City authorities.

That "correct" diplomatic terrorist training camps in Mexico. Five Russian diplomats, including a second secretary, were declared persona non grata and expelled.

As it developed, they had been involved in the selection of three "classes" — nearly 50 students — who were invited to attend the Patrice Lumumba School in Moscow. After each group completed the course there they were sent secretly to an activist training school in North Korea and, finally, back to foment hemispheric instability.

Aerospace job push studied

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon summoned leaders of the aerospace industry to the Western White House today to promote jobs for 65,000 unemployed scientists and engineers.

The chief executive, who reluctantly signed a bill recently killing the Supersonic Transport, also scheduled a private talk with Treasury Secretary John B. Connally.

Their meeting was set for 1 p.m. EST.

A White House spokesman said the meeting would cover a "broad gamut" of monetary problems, including the tentative agreement between Lockheed Corp. and the British government to retain Rolls Royce engines for the Trident airbus.

Dr. Edward D. David, the President's science adviser, and Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson met with Nixon and an assemblage of 16 leaders of the highly skilled scientists are on the aerospace industry to tackle the burgeoning unemployment problem.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the President "has expressed concern over the amount of unemployment among scientists and engineers and is looking for ways the federal government can work with private organizations to alleviate the problem."

Most of the unemployed, highly skilled scientists are on the West Coast, particularly Nixon's native Southern California.

Nixon initiated a program Wednesday to return $6.8 billion worth of federally-owned property back to the states for public use, primarily park lands and recreation areas. He said he had ordered a review of all federal properties throughout the country to determine which of them could be put to better use.

On another front, the White House made no secret of its apparent relief that the Democratic caucus had adopted a Vietnam-resolution it could live with — particularly the two-year reprieve to end U.S. involvement.

FIRST STRIKE of Eisenhower dollar is examined by Director of Mint Mary T. Brooks and Eugene T. Rossides, assistant secretary of treasury. Silver dollars, first produced since 1933, were struck Wednesday at San Francisco Mint. Plans call for making 130 million of the uncirculated coins for sale at $3 each and 20 million proof coins for sale at $10 each. (UPI)

Downed Hoosiers hike to freedom from Laos

SAIGON (UPI) — Two U.S. OH-6 Cayuse helicopter crashed and burned in a river about 20 miles from Snoul, Cambodia, the only survivors when their aircraft were shot down over Laos and Cambodia, have walked out of Communist controlled territory.

One of them WO Craig Houser, 21, said he kept himself alive during his 12-day "walk to freedom" through enemy terrain by talking to himself. Houser, of Connersville, Ind., was shot down March 10 in Cambodia. Military spokesmen released the details of his story Wednesday.

The other Spec. 4 Paul Lagenour, also 21, saved himself from immediate doom by calling in air and artillery strikes around his position after the crash. Lagenour, from Odon, Ind., walked into a U.S. base in northern South Vietnam Wednesday, lightly wounded but in good condition. He was shot down in Laos, March 19.

Lagenour, a door gunner, had been with the 48th Helicopter Assault Co. that helped support the South Vietnamese drive into Laos. His helicopter was downed by some of the heaviest Communist groundfire ever encountered in Indochina while trying to get into a landing zone to pick up South Vietnamese paratroopers about four miles west of Lao Bao.

Another Huey swept down to pick up Lagenour, but heavy fire kept him from reaching it.

Within hours, the Communist troops had moved in so close to Lagenour that he called in strikes by rocket-firing AH-1 "Cobra" gunships within 10 yards of the center of the landing area. He has about three months of his 12-month Vietnam tour of duty to serve, and a military source said he probably would be sent home rather than be returned to the war zone.

Tests run.

HAGERMAN — Three hundred forty pupils in the Hagerman school system were given auditory screen tests under sponsorship of the Hagerman Lions Club.

SAIC CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — The Western White House has announced President Nixon set 9 p.m. EST Wednesday, April 7, for his radio-television report to the nation on further U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam.

In the Bible, it says that Jerusalem is surrounded by cities. This is the reason early mapmakers put Jerusalem in the center of their maps.

Marxist Extended changes draft OK in House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration, by a razor-thin margin, has won House approval for a two-year extension of the draft, but backers of a volunteer Army hope to approve a military pay package that will speed up the President's timetable for ending the draft.

The $2.7 billion pay and quarters allowance increase is three times more expensive than Nixon requested. It would grant in one year starting July 1 the raises Nixon had planned to extend over two years to achieve a zero draft call by mid-1973.

As an indication of the sentiment for ending the draft, the House came within two votes Wednesday of limiting the President's induction authority to just one more year. The 200 to 198 vote was also an indication of increasing impatience in the House for an end to the Vietnam War.

The amendment sponsored by Rep. Charles W. Whalen, R-Ohio, limiting extension of the draft to one year, would have allowed Congress in 1972 to exercise veto power over sending more draftees to Vietnam. If by that time the administration has not removed all U.S. troops.

Report set

SAIC CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — The Western White House has announced President Nixon set 9 p.m. EST Wednesday, April 7, for his radio-television report to the nation on further U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam.

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Soviet Communist party leader, in a speech to the 24th party congress released today, condemned attempts by non-Soviet Communists to modify Marxist theory or set up "models" of Socialist states different from the Soviet Union.

Pyotr M. Masherov, first secretary of Byelorussia's party organization, mentioned only Communist China by name. "Particularly repulsive is the anti-Soviet line of the Chinese leaders who, calling themselves Communists, have made their principal occupation the defamation of our Leninist party and the Soviet experience of building socialism."

Apparently referring to Yugoslavia and some non-ruling Communist parties such as that in Italy, he said "the rightist revisionists have practically joined up with those who are openly anti-Communist and anti-Soviet."

Masherov's statements to the party congress that got underway Tuesday with nearly 5,000 delegates and observers appeared to contradict the previous Soviet position on the feasibility of different countries pursuing their own national paths to communism.

Polish Communist party leader Edward Gierek, who took over in his country following the worker riots in December, thanked the Soviet Union for its understanding during those troubles.

Social Security

Q & A

If readers have any questions about social security, address them to Jim Pitt, 1239, Twin Falls, Idaho, 83301. Question: Next year I'll be 62. If I retire then, how much will I collect from social security? Answer: I would suggest that you come in and talk to the people at the social security office and have them send for a benefit estimate, so that we can give you more definite information on the dollar amount of your benefit. The more you defer, the less you get. Your basic retirement benefit is figured on your average earnings covered by social security up to age 65. If you elect to retire as soon as you are 62, your benefit would be 20 percent less than the amount you could get at age 65. Incidentally, if you decide to retire next year, you have one more year before age 65 to drop any private health insurance you may have. Medicare health insurance is not tied to retirement benefits. You must be 65 or older to be eligible for Medicare.

Question: My two small children and I have collected monthly social security survivor benefits since my husband died 4 years ago. Will our payments stop if I remarry?

Answer: Your own monthly social security payments will stop if you remarry, but the children will continue to receive their benefits until they're 18—or until age 22 if they are full-time students in an accredited school and they remain unmarried.

Premium increase forecast

SEATTLE—The continuing upward trend in the cost of repairing of automobile repairs can be expected to exert strong upward pressure on the barometer of auto insurance rates in Idaho, the Insurance Information Institute said today.

The institute said it appeared unavoidable that insurance rates would be forced to react sensitively to such factors as the number of drivers of high-speed accidents, soaring repair costs and the reluctance of auto manufacturers to produce new cars less vulnerable to damage in low-speed crashes than their predecessors.

Insurance studies have shown, the institute said, the majority of accidents are of the low-speed variety, causing damage which could be minimized or avoided altogether if sensible energy-absorbing design techniques had been incorporated in the making of the auto.

The institute noted that Dr. William Haddon Jr., president of Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, in testimony earlier this month before the Senate Commerce Committee, criticized the continued production of fragile cars unable to absorb bumper-to-bumper punishment without severe and costly damage.

Dr. Haddon told the committee that first results of low-speed crash tests on 12,1971 car models showed a pattern of damage that "on balance appears to have worsened from tested 1970 models."

Outdoors passport on sale

TWIN FALLS—Gold Eagle passports for the calendar year of 1971 are on sale at U.S. Forest Service National Park Service and other department of agriculture and department of interior agency offices.

This year's passport fee is $10 for the full season and will admit the purchaser and the passenger of his personal vehicle to all national parks and forest service recreation areas where entrance fees are charged.

Passports can be purchased from the Sawtooth National Forest Service office in Twin Falls and are also available at the entrances of many parks and forest recreation areas.

Mountain airstrips dangerous

BOISE—Chair Mountain, Boise, Idaho, director of aeronautics, today warned Idaho pilots with "spring fever."

Mountion said this is the time of year when the urge to climb into an airplane for a Sunday spin reaches the maximum for a look at the "back country."

He said although some of the landing strips in the lower valleys are in excellent condition, this is not the case with other elevations, because some are still closed because of snow. Also, frost will affect many fields, he said.

Officials may oust displays

BOISE (UPI)—Idaho's acting director of administrative services is giving serious thought to removing displays of commercial products and activities from the Statehouse corridors.

"We have now a long list of commercial interest who want to put their displays in the capitol," Lieutenant Governor James Lenaghan said. "The business we've got to open it to everybody to eliminate the commercial advertising from our displays."

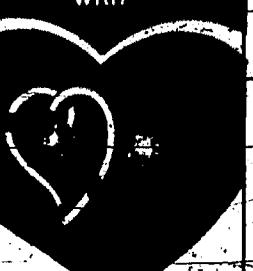

He said he would appreciate suggestions from the public on a substitute for the displays, keeping in mind they "have a great attraction to tourists."

Possibly, he said, a slide presentation could be worked up and placed somewhere in the capitol that is convenient for the tourist but not in the corridors of the Statehouse.

Lenaghan said he simply wants to "make it more in keeping with aesthetic interests."

Viet orphans' plight
grips young teacher

By SIDNEY FIELDS

Rosemary Taylor, an attractive, dark-eyed young school teacher, wanted a job where she could help people. She taught at a high school in her home town of Adelaide, Australia, then at a remote Eskimo mission in Alaska, later at a Canadian junior college. But she felt she could be doing more. Three years ago, while visiting her parents in Australia, she began wondering if there was some way she might help the war-tattered people of South Vietnam. She decided she would go to Saigon to see.

When she arrived, Rosemary went first to visit the hospitals and orphanages, inquiring about the children. She was deeply moved by what she discovered:

"The children are brought in a constant flood into hospitals and orphanages by people who find them abandoned in streets or by their own mothers, who beg to have their babies placed in a home where they can survive," Rosemary told friends.

"Hospital registers are filled with names of children and a one-word entry, next to them — 'died.' In some orphanages, four out of every five children die."

She immediately went to work at Phu My, a large hospital near Saigon, overflowing with sick and maimed adults and children. She felt the children drawing her to them and she set about tending the sick ones, lavishing attention on the smaller ones and teaching the older ones.

Before her arrival, many of the children would lie listless and pathetic on their cots all day. When she tried to lift some of the 2-year-olds to their feet, she discovered they couldn't stand because their muscles had been used so little.

At Phu My, Rosemary met Rosa Tytore, a nurse from Barcelona, Spain, who shared Rosemary's concern for the children and who, like Rosemary, was disturbed about how little was being done for them.

"We were trying to keep children alive with a bowl of rice a day," Rosemary explained. "It was all we had. But it wasn't enough. They needed so much more."

Then Rose managed to get rent-free two rooms in a house outside Saigon, and the two young women started their own orphanage. "We moved in,"

Rosemary said, "with as many children as we could get." Rosemary and Rosa called their orphanage Toh Am, the Warm Nest.

They began scrapping what they needed — as they still do — from anyone who had it. The $100 a month Rosemary was able to get from the Australian Council of Churches is spent mostly for medicine and milk. Other contributors help them.

"The inflation in Saigon is merciless," Rosemary said. "A can of baby formula costs $1.40. N.Y.

But even so, one dollar can keep an infant alive for several days."

Rosemary spends each day with the children. And besides running the Warm Nest, she makes regular visits to 15 other orphanages, teaching and reading to the children, playing with them, giving them love and attention.

In the evenings she pesters the various embassies, trying to unsnarl red tape so the children can be adopted. So far Rosemary has found new parents for 240 children, sending them to homes all over the world.

By nature Rosemary is reserved and doesn't talk much about herself. She takes the words of Proverbs 21:21 to express the faith that guides her: "He that followeth after mercy findeth life."

When asked, she explains her motives by telling the story of a family in Colorado who adopted a 2-year-old boy from the Warm Nest. A few weeks after the youngster arrived in Colorado, Rosemary received from his new mother a picture of her own three children with their new brother, and a letter which read:

"I hope someday you can get us two more like him. We don't ever want to have any luxury while children starve anywhere."

That's how Rosemary feels, too. Copyright 1970 by Guideposts magazine, Carmel, N.Y.

Ida Gem employee retires

JEROME — A. W. Borden, 65, Jerome, was honored at a small informal gathering of fellow employees at Ida Gem Dairymen, Jerome. It was announced today.

Borden who has been with Ida Gem for 18 years, retired Monday and was presented a fishing reel and rod from the employees.

Borden started with Ida Gem in 1953 on a sales route which he had until six years ago when he suffered a heart attack and then went to work in the sales room at Ida Gem doing bookwork and some purchasing for the creamery.

He has resided in Jerome since he was in the fourth grade, coming here from Kansas as a small boy. He is married to the former Jessie Dees, Jerome. The couple had one daughter, Mrs. Carol Christensen, Bountiful, Utah, and three grandchildren, Dick, Mark and Valley Borden, and his wife have been married for 37 years.

Borden said he plans to do a lot of fishing and many of the things he has wanted to do for some time, but never had the time. "We bought a camp trailer and are going to do a lot of camping, may even go south for the winter, but I like this country too much to stay away from it in the summer. We plan to stay right here," Borden said. "I'll miss my fellow employees at Ida Gem but I think I'm going to enjoy my retirement."

Woman power comes to Finland

HELSINKI (UPI) — Woman power has come to Finland, well after it began making itself felt elsewhere in Europe and in the United States.

Activist woman power, that is. Women's liberation began in Finland long ago. They won the vote in 1906. The present government includes three female ministers, and 44 women sit in the 200-member Finnish Parliament. Fifty per cent of the country's university and college students are women, three-quarters of Finland's dentists and 25 per cent of its doctors are women.

So there are many who wonder, how much more liberation—or power—does the Finnish woman need?

The female activists have their answers. They cite statistics to show that although women make up half the country's working force, women on the average earn only 60 per cent as much as men for equivalent work; women hold only four per cent of all executive posts, only 6.4 per cent of those presenting doctoral theses are women, and women hold only 2.5 per cent of university chairs.

With these and other arguments, a group of women in Turku have formed what they call the "First Chapter of Woman Power in Finland."

the Burley IOOF Hall by Robert Bryan, Gooding department commander of Idaho Patriarch's Militant, and Ruth Harrison, Gooding, president of the Department Association of LAPM, it was announced today.

Mrs. Velma Fenton, LAPM, president, called the auxiliary session to order. Honored guests introduced included Mrs. Harrison; Mrs. Marie Jenkins, St. Anthony; Mrs. Mildred Bryan, Gooding; Mrs. Alice Bowman, Twin Falls; Mrs. Leona Nichols, Idaho Falls; Mrs. Esther Arbogast, Burley; Bryan; Ted Arbogast, Herbert; Kennedy, and Mrs. Edith Clevenger, all Burley and Dale Bowman, Twin Falls.

Leona Nichol, Idaho Falls, was pianist for the evening.

A social hour was held after the business session. Members and guests enjoyed a birthday cake in honor of the third anniversary of the LAPM. In charge of serving were Mrs. Anna Dutson, Mrs. Vernal Jones, Mrs. Loralee Anderson and Mrs. Nancy Johnson.

Tables were decorated by Mrs. Agnes Satchwell, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Esther Arbogast.

Prior to the business session, an opening and closing thoughts.

The group voted to make a donation to the Home on the Hill, Caldwell, and the floral march was donated toward the expenses of the department association.

Mrs. Harrison's talk was dedicated by Mrs. Fenton to the memory of Schuyler Colfax, founder of the Rebekah Degree.

South America is 4,600 miles long from north to south.

Canton department, Bryan addressed the auxiliary and chevaliers.

Guests included members from Wood River Valley No. 22; Pocatello No. 11; Colfax No. 13, and Rupert.

Jerome miss chosen pilgrimage delegate

JEROME — Lois Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jenkins, has been chosen to attend the 22nd annual Odd Fellows United Nations (UN) Pilgrimage for Youth, as a delegate from district No. 6, which will sponsor her, according to Mrs. Fred Clubb, committee chairman.

District No. 6 of the Odd Fellows is comprised of Jerome, Fairfield, Gooding, Shoshone, Haegerman and Wendell.

Miss Jenkins will visit New York from July 9 to Aug. 1, as one of more than 1,000 student observers of the UN from throughout the U.S. and Canada.

Mrs. Clubb said the project is sponsored by the Odd Fellow and Rebekah Lodges through the youth committee of the IOOF Sovereign Grand Lodge.

The delegates will observe and study the UN in action, see committees and commissions at work in the five official languages and learn of the work done throughout the world by such departments as WHO, UNESCO, FAO Technical Assistance, Mrs. Clubb said.

"They will visit the headquarters of the U.S. and Canadian missions to the UN and receive briefings by other member nations. They will also tour International House, take a three-hour boat ride around Manhattan Island and an evening at Radio City Music Hall to see the Rockettes, plus a visit to the Empire State Building observatory and a tour of Rockefeller Center," Mrs. Clubb said.

Miss Jenkins won the honor after competing with other sophomores and juniors from this area. She was judged on the basis of a written test, school and civic participation, a prepared speech and a personal interview.

Out-of-town judges for the contest were Mrs. R.C. Lancaster, Wendell; Bennie Webb, Shoshone, district deputy grand master of District No. 16, and William Boyd, Twin Falls, past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Idaho.

The committee consisted of Chairman Mrs. Fred Clubb, Mrs. E.V. Cook, Edd Moeller, Ray Silver and Mrs. Russell Shaud.

Miss Jenkins is a junior at Jerome High School. She lists her hobbies as nature, horses, sewing, cooking and school activities.

She is a member of the Pep Club, GAA, TAPS, Radio Club and the annual staff at school. She has participated in 4-H six years, served as a Candy Stripper at St. Benedict's Hospital for two years and is a member of the Jerome Junior Posse. She is secretary of the junior class and vice-president of the pep club.

Michelle Werry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Werry, was named alternate.

Other contestants were Kathy Emerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Emerson, and Susan Atkin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gil Atkin.

LOIS JENKINS

Hope chest replaced

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dowries are pretty much a thing of the past and the bridal shower takes the place of the hope chest for today's bride.

"Which means that things haven't changed as much as you might think, for it was just such a situation that inspired the first wedding shower," says Ginny Hopkins, author of a new book on this modern pre-nuptial party custom.

Miss Hopkins says legend has it that years and years ago a young Dutch girl was in love with the proverbial poor young man ... poor because of his generosity to others. Because of his lack of wealth, the girl's father considered him a poor marriage prospect and he refused to give the couple a dowry. Sympathetic villagers decided to help the young couple by making up the dowry themselves.

Each person gave a treasured possession of his own until they had contributed all the household goods a bride was expected to bring to her new home.

Da Vinci's works exhibited

By LEE TREMAYNE

Times-News Staff Writer

TWIN FALLS — True or false: The Wright brothers designed the first airplane, the tank was developed in World War I, and the Gatling gun was the first "machine gun"?

False, every one!

You have another "think" coming, also, if you believe that the famed mag-frightener known as the horseless carriage is a "recent" invention, or that the parachute was invented after the airplane.

Try again, friend, if you believe that the first double-walled hull for a sailing vessel is an American invention . . . or that two-level highways were coincidental with modern traffic . . . or even that the familiar auto jack was conceived to fit today's vehicles.

All these inventions and many others far antedated today's mechanical civilization. All were first developed by one of the greatest scientific and artistic geniuses of all time — Leonardo da Vinci, best known for his paintings of the Mona Lisa and the Last Supper.

While creating such memorable paintings, Da Vinci's mind whirled with other matters — ideas which he carefully described and artistically drew in his notebooks.

The notebooks, for an as yet undetermined reason, were written with his left hand with the intricate script described backwards — as it would appear when seen in a mirror.

The inventions have been carefully studied and have been created in working models which have been on display in many museums. Now, Magic Valley citizens may view Da Vinci's models in full detail, in a display at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Building. A group of 20 Da Vinci inventions are on display, complete with descriptions and reproductions of his original notebooks.

His study of warfare brought an amazing array of "futuristic" weapons — the first "machine gun," on display now; the forerunner of the armored tank that would fend off cannon balls and the first "flying machine."

In connection with his study of warfare, and perhaps inspiring it, some of Leonardo's words have a strongly prophetic ring:

"When besieged by ambitious tyrants, I find a means of offense and defense in order to preserve the chief gift of nature, which is liberty."

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I read your column faithfully and think you hand out some good advice, however I disagree with you on one very important issue: You don't think a boy or man should have to marry a girl if he is the cause of her pregnancy.

It takes two to tango, and it takes two to cause a pregnancy. If my unmarried daughter became pregnant, there would be either a willing bridegroom or a shotgun wedding.

The most important thing would be to make sure the child had a name. Then afterwards, if the parents decided they didn't want to stay married, let them get a divorce. It is not as much a blot on the child as being labeled "illegitimate."

I will be watching the paper to see if you print this.

PITY THE BABES

DEAR PITY: No one can force a man to marry against his will, but the law can insist that a man support his illegitimate child. Besides, an unwilling bridegroom makes a poor husband and a miserable father.

DEAR ABBY: I recently met a seemingly charming woman, and on parting I casually invited her to come and see me "sometime." I meant for her to come and visit with me for an hour or so.

She telephoned me the very next day and stated that she AND HER HUSBAND would like to come to my home for lunch on Saturday! This shocked me as I certainly did not intend for her to bring her husband. Also, I have been brought up to never invite myself anywhere. I told her that Saturday was not convenient for me, so she has been calling me daily to set up a date.

If she is this nervy at the beginning of a friendship what can I expect if we become better friends? Knowing how presumptuous this woman is, I would rather not get involved with her at all. How can this be handled tactfully?

—SPOKE TOO SOON

DEAR SPOKE: Continue to find each suggested date "inconvenient" and don't feel guilty. She is obviously not as "charming" as you thought she was.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Pension plans called failure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A survey by the Senate Labor Subcommittee showed today that only a fraction of American workers who leave their jobs before reaching retirement age can expect to collect anything from the billions of dollars invested in pension plans in their behalf. The survey of 87 pension plans in existence since 1960 which covered 9.3 million workers who left work early showed that only about 1 million of them will ever receive a pension.

The survey was made public by Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., the subcommittee chairman, and Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., its ranking Republican member.

Javits said the survey disclosed the failure of a major American institution, the private pension system. He said a law is needed to guarantee workers at least a portion of their pension if they quit or are fired before reaching retirement age.

"As things now stand," Javits said in a statement, "only a relative handful of the estimated tens of millions of American workers under private pension plans will ever get anything from the plans on which they now base their futures."

Private pension plans have assets of $130 billion, about half of what the U.S. government spends in a year. They enroll 30 million workers and are growing at the rate of $10 billion

This would be enormously expensive since pension plans are usually funded on the assumption that a large percentage of the work force will never draw from them. Presumably if Javits' bill were enacted, employers would be forced to give smaller wage increases in order to pour more into pension funds.

Exemptions ripped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Draft exemptions for divinity school students should be abolished because too many young men are studying for the ministry just so they can escape the draft, according to Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo.

An end to divinity school exemptions is one aspect of the two-year draft extension bill being debated in the House, which has also become embroiled in a debate on the larger issue of the Vietnam War.

Ichord said Tuesday divinity school exemptions "are harmful to the cause of religion" because there are those "entering the ministry not for the primary purpose of serving God, but to avoid the draft."

Restrictive amendments to the draft bill, including an attempt by antiwar forces to limit the extension to only one year, came before the House again today. Democrats called a closed-door party huddle first, however, to seek agreement on their own antiwar stand.

Many at issue at the party caucus was a resolution by Rep. Spark Matsunaga, D-Hawaii, to put Democrats on record for withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Indochina and release of all U.S. war prisoners by Dec. 31. Democratic leaders generally were opposed to inclusion of a specific date in the proposed end-the-war stand.

EQUIPMENT IS rolling and dirt moving at U.S. Highway 30 construction at Filer's south edge. Removal of old pavement on the short section of the highway has caused some delays for traffic headed for Twin Falls and Buhi through Filer.

Road project causes

Filer traffic delays

FILER — Motorists traveling through Filer on U.S. Highway 30 will continue to experience delays of from five to about 20 minutes because of construction there for the next two weeks.

Duane Schrank, vice president of Twin Falls Construction Co. and project superintendent, said crews

He said that traffic take alternate the new stretch of highway joins routes — either on Pole Line Highway 30 at Cedar Crossing Road or around the east side of and follows a new alignment to the fair grounds — to avoid the Filer construction site.

Schrank said crews will be working in the area all summer, but the major traffic problems will be resolved within the next two weeks. He said new pavement should be in place by fall.

Burley man treated well on trip to Red China aboard hijacked jet

Editor's note: The following first-person account on the first airliner hijacking to Communist China was narrated by Eldred Fewkes, 58, of Burley, Idaho, an American business executive in the Philippines to Legaspi Oil and one of four Americans aboard the seized Philippine Air Lines BAC 111 jet. He and 23 others, including five Filipino crewmen and three other Americans, returned to Manila today after leaving behind the six long-haired Filipino youths who hijacked the plane to Canton. They spent 24 hours under Chinese custody there.

By Eldred Fewkes

MANILA (UPI)—I think the most exciting part of it all was when we first found out we were being hijacked and when you looked around you saw a revolver looking at you in the face.

If some of the passengers had a panic or something like that, it could have been very disastrous. However, everyone kept his cool and we all arrived safely.

When we landed in Communist China, we were a little apprehensive on how they would receive us. But they treated us very courteously, they didn't try to grill us, they didn't try to pry into our affairs at all.

They treated us well and gave us quarters to sleep in. They had American food, whatever you want—veal cutlets, steaks, fried chicken, whatever you wanted to order.

We were separated from the crew and the six hijackers after arrival in Canton Tuesday morning. We saw them again in one section of the airport having their dinner in the evening. Then, this morning at about 9 o'clock they came and talked to us. They apologized for having caused us the inconvenience and said they were sorry but that it was the only way they could get the means of an end of what they wanted to do. They said they belonged to some organization here in the Philippines. They didn't mention the organization and they wouldn't tell us. We tried to pry a bit, but they were unwilling to talk to us about it.

They were intelligent young men, they were all scholars, they were all engineering students from Mindanao State University, they told us so, but I recognized one of them as from Legaspi City (in southern Luzon). Most of them wore long hair. They treated us very kindly and there was no trouble.

The only statement they made was this—they thought the government here was all right but the administration was all wrong and that was the thing they were trying to change. They said they'd be back in the Philippines in about a year or two.

thorities didn't talk to us very much about it (the hijacking). They came out and called a meeting Tuesday night about 11:30 and told us the Peoples Republic of China has decided to send the plane back and that they didn't condone this type of a thing, hijacking of airplanes.

The Chinese, we understand, searched the luggage after we got off the plane. We were searched by the hijackers aboard the plane for weapons but that was the only search we had.

I learned we were being hijacked at about 6:30 a.m. Tuesday, 40 to 45 minutes after we had taken off. First we heard through the plane intercom—Hello, Hello, Hello. Then I looked around to see what was going on and I looked right down the barrel of a revolver. I was seated near the back and there were two hijackers stationed on the rear of the ship. Two were on the aisles and two were on the cockpit.

They had it very well planned. In my estimation, they knew exactly what they were doing. They put the tables down so we couldn't move around in the seats so there wouldn't be any attempt to take any of the guns away from them.

Throughout, all of us were told to sit down but we were allowed to go to the rest room. We were about two and a half hours in Hong Kong and then we went on to Canton. They took the crewmembers off first, then the six hijackers and then we were allowed to debark.

We were kept contained inside the airport. It was a beautiful building and very clean but as far as airplane traffic is concerned, there was only one other airplane with six passengers and that was all we saw going in and out. There were two hijackers stationed on the rear of the ship. Two were

Zoning ruling slated

Future Farmers said in new role

RUPERT — A decision was anticipated today by the Rupert City Zoning Commission on a proposal to change the status of the area where Trevino Equipment is located.

Larry Freeman, chairman, and Councilman Charles Dalry and Buster Goode, commission members, said after a public hearing on the proposed change Wednesday night, they would personally inspect the site on A Street between Fifth and Sixth Streets this morning before making a decision.

Today about 70 per cent of the FFA members are not becoming farmers so changes are being made so they will go into ag-business to serve agriculture.

"In some school systems, FFA members are being taught product marketing and this will be emphasized more and more in the future by schools throughout the nation. In the past the FFA member was taught to produce to be financially efficient.

"But today, this is not the case, because after he becomes so efficient, he must seek new channels for his finances. This being in the marketing end of agriculture."

This change in agriculture to marketing is noticeable in most other agricultural organizations, Lehmann said. Speaking for himself, and not

Fire probe at Jerome continues

JEROME — Investigation continued today into the cause of a Tuesday afternoon fire at the home of the Farris Lopper family.

Fire Chief Lynn Bingham said the fire, which occurred at 5 p.m., was confined to a staircase leading to the attic and there was extensive water damage as well.

Lopper was at work for Bertie's Poultry, Twin Falls, at the time of the fire and Mrs. Lopper and their 5-year-old son also were not home at the time.

The family was renting the home and now needs a two-bedroom house, furniture and clothing. Mrs. Lopper wears a size 28½. Rev. A. W. Baker, United Pentecostal Church pastor, said furniture and clothing may be left at his church. The Loppers are members of that church.

The family is now staying with friends.

BUHL — Cascade Commodities Corp., formerly Carter Packing Co., has reverted to ownership by the original stockholders and owners, Mel and Gordon Carter, according to Gooding attorney Philip Becker.

Becker had been acting as local counsel for two out-of-state men who purchased a major interest in Carter Packing Co., and converted the firm into a controversial rendering concern under its present name.

The two men have since returned their stock to Mel and Gordon Carter, and have left the state, Becker said. He said the two men did not care to discuss their reasons for leaving the firm, but denied an earlier report that the two were "disappointed at the attitude of the people of Buhl," who filed a lawsuit against the firm.

Plant manager Gordon Carter had no comment on the change of ownership, but did not deny the report. He said the firm would continue to operate a rendering plant.

"We wouldn't return to cutting meat at any price," Carter said. He explained that federal regulations are "driving the little fellow out of business. Soon only the big meat packer will be left—the man who can process 2,000 animals a day and more."

Cascade Commodities, in its new job of handling dead animals and rendering out the meat and tallow, has more floor space than is needed, Carter said. "We are considering adding other operations in the extra floor space," he said.

The firm presently processes animal meat for sale as dog food to the makers of Alpo Dog food, among others, Carter said.

Two large coolers formerly used to cool down the freshly killed meat are now standing empty, and could be used by anyone needing a large amount of temperature and humidity-controlled space," Carter said.

THESE THREE MEN have been re-elected officers of the Jerome County Government. From left, are George Mayfield, vice chairman, and Lee Ruth, chairman of Finance and Taxation Committee. They were sworn in yesterday.

Market Review

Thursday, April 1, 1971 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 17

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market was slightly lower in moderate turnover as trading rounded the halfway mark Thursday.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was off .09 at 100.22 while the Dow Jones Industrial average showed a loss of .56 at 903.81. Declines topped advances, 651 to 595, on 1,584 issues crossing the tape.

A three-hour volume of 8,320,000 shares was about three million shares behind Wednesday's pace.

The slower trading reflected a lack of motivating news and hesitancy on the part of some investors as they wait for first quarter corporate earnings. These should begin flowing in a couple of weeks and are likely to provide an indication of whether the economy is recovering as President Nixon and many private economists have said it would.

Among the day's most active issues were Rheingold up 3% on 175,000 shares, Weyerhaeuser off 1% on 174,900 shares, UAL preferred up 1/4 on 121,500 shares, and Whittaker Corp. up 3% on 91,100 shares.

Less active IBM lost 1%, with Xerox down 1%. Xerox Instruments and Du Pont, however, gained a point or better.

Steels showed a steady tone, while motors moved in a narrow, irregular fashion.

Player guns for third straight victory as Greensboro meet begins

GREENSBORO, N. C. (UPI) — Gary Player, in perhaps his finest hour as a professional, but still wishing he were back home on his South African ranch, goes after a feat not accomplished in nine years when he tees off Thursday in the Greater Greensboro Open. Player will be gunning for a third consecutive victory — something no one has done since Arnold Palmer turned that trick back in 1962 by winning the Texas Open Tournament of Champions and Colonial Invitational on successive weekends.

Cincinnati signs top draft pick

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The Cincinnati Royals announced Wednesday they have come to terms with their first-round college draft pick, forward Ken Durrett of LaSalle, on a five-year contract.

Royals General Manager Joe Axelson and head coach Bob Cousy met with Durrett and his former coach, Tom Gola, in Philadelphia and reached the agreement.

Axelson said attorneys for the Royals and Durrett will now take a few days to prepare the contract and formal signing is expected early next week.

Terms of the contract and salary were not disclosed, but Durrett reportedly was asking for a $1 million plus.

Durrett, 6-7 and 190, was a two-time All-American and led the LaSalle team to the National Invitational Tournament in New York this year.

Finland overpowers U.S. 7-3

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — Center Veli-Pekka Ketola, returning to action after an injury, scored three goals Wednesday night to lead Finland to a 7-3 win over the United States in the 1971 World Ice Hockey championships.

In an earlier game, West Germany pulled the biggest upset of the six-nation tournament when the gutsy Germans battled to a 2-1 victory over favored Sweden.

The West German win and the American loss means that the U.S. sextet will have to beat the Germans by six goals or more Friday to avoid being relegated to the eight-nation BBB group in the 1972 championships.

The Americans are playing their first year in the AAA group after going undefeated through the BBB group in 1970.

The Russian world champions are at the top with 15 points, virtually assured of their ninth consecutive world title. Only the Czechs, with 11 points, have a theoretical chance to upset them. Sweden and Finland are tied for third with nine points each.

West Germany is fifth with four points and the United States is last with only two points.

Palmer won the Jacksonville and National Airlines opens the past two weeks and he's the defending champion here. The way things are going, he has to be considered the man to beat.

Arnold Palmer, the year's leading moneywinner; and Jack Nicklaus passed up this one to concentrate on next week's Masters. But the defending Masters champ, Billy Casper, Miller Barber, currently No. 2 on the money list, and Lee Trevino are in the field to challenge Player.

"I feel I'm playing as well as I ever have," Player said as he prepared to tackle the 7,034 yard, par 36-35-71 Sedgefield Country Club course in Wednesday's pro-am. "This certainly a course with plenty of room to hit."

Still, he would rather be home with his family — "I really get homesick" — and his ranch. He views golf as a business — "It takes a lot of money to raise thoroughbreds, you know."

"I could be a better golfer if I had the dedication of Ben Hogan," he said.

It would be hard to think of Gary Player as a better golfer.

He topped the $100,000 mark the past two years and this year already has banked $75,843 helped along by those back-to-back wins in the Greater Jacksonville and National Airlines opens. In a span of about 24 months, during which he played in only 38 tournaments, a little more than a third of the total, the muscular little man in black has won about $300,000.

So, this is Player's tournament, at least for now. But, not long ago it was considered the private domain of Sam Snead, who captured it eight times. "Hey, my tendonitis is acting up," Sam grinned as he headed for the first tee for the pro am. Meanwhile, his nephew, Carlyle Snead, took a breather and lamented about the raw spots on the fairway.

Carlyle — he used to be called

Palmer and J. C. but he prefers Carlyle — said he had a rough time of it, three-putting twice on his round Wednesday — "Something I don't usually do."

But he feels he has broken out of the shadow of his famous uncle because after six years as a pro, he finally has emerged a winner.

"I don't really mind being referred to as Sam's nephew — it hasn't hurt any," he said.

Farmer reportedly asked to resign T.F. cage job

Thursday, April 1, 1971 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho, 10

THE TIMES-NEWS

Derby favorite injured

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor
Charles Farmer, head basketball coach at Twin Falls high school for the past six years and sophomore coach for the six years previous to that, has been asked to resign according to highly reliable but unconfirmed reports.

The decision to ask Farmer to resign, evidently with firing as the alternative, reportedly was reached at a special meeting of the Twin Falls school board during the special meeting.

Through 12 years of association with Twin Falls sophomore and varsity basketball, Farmer had only one losing season as 8-12 and his second worst was 12-8.

The report received by the Times-News indicated that the ouster was traceable to about five adults, two of whom had sons on the basketball team last season. Charges against Farmer reportedly were not specified, but lumped into categories of poor public relations, and inability to establish complete rapport with his players.

Farmer, who was named co-coach of the Southern Idaho Conference in a vote of sportswriters-casters this spring, would not comment on the situation late Wednesday night.

It is known, however, that the school hierarchy was not pleased with the crowd attendance at Twin Falls games this season, although much of this would seem attributable to the several home game conflicts with College of Southern Idaho which enjoyed the No. 1 junior college ranking in the nation through the latter part of the season.

Twin Falls high school athletics are underwritten totally by gate receipts and a share of the student activity card. Bruin Booster season ticket sales reached a record high last fall.

Farmer came to Twin Falls from Kansas in the fall of 1959 and served as sophomore coach under Ollie Butler and Paul Ostyn, succeeding to the head job when Ostyn resigned. He also has served as cross country coach and assisted in track.

Liske, an original draft choice of the Eagles in 1964 who went with the then American Football League, completed 112 of 238 passes for 1,340 yards and seven touchdowns for Denver in 1970.

The trade means Liske will rejoin his old coach, Eagles mentor Jerry Williams, who coached the quarterback at

Calgary in the Canadian League.

Liske, a former Penn State

University star, was drafted by the Eagles and the New York

Jets and chose to go with the AFL.

Liske, who was cut by the

Jets and later by the Buffalo

Bills, went to Canada and achieved stardom under Williams.

He played with the Calgary

Stampeders from 1966 through

1968 and was named the league's outstanding player in 1967 when his team won the western division title.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) —

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — Ron Swoboda, one of the key players in the New York Mets' "miracle World Series victory" in 1969 but an outspoken critic of Manager Gil Hodges in 1970, was traded to the Montreal Expos Wednesday for outfielder Don Hahn.

Swoboda, 26, was hailed as a possible future Mickey Mantle

by Manager Casey Stengel

when he joined the Mets in 1965. He had brief flashes of brilliance and batted .281 in 134

games in 1967.

Swoboda made important contributions to the Mets' stretch run which resulted in their winning the National League pennant in 1969.

There had been rumors

McGuire would enter pro coaching and Raymonds admitted he had been offered some head coaching jobs.

Exact terms of the contracts were not revealed, but the Very

Rev. John P. Raynor, Marquette president, said Mc-Guire's contract was "one of the finest in the country."

MONTE CARLO, Nev. (UPI) — Carlos Monzon of Argentina agreed to defend his world middleweight championship against Italian Nino Benvenuti in Monte Carlo on May 8, it was announced Wednesday.

The Italian promoter said that each fighter has agreed to pay a $5,000 forfeit for the winner to meet Emile Griffith within 90 days. The World

Boxing Association had demanded the forfeit be made before the contracts were signed for the bout.

Monzon knocked out Benvenuti in the 11th round to win the title in 1970. Monzon had agreed to defend against Benvenuti, but the Italian was beaten this month in a tuneup against Jose Chirico.

The fight will be subsidized by $30,000 from Monte Carlo. It will be shown by satellite in the United States.

due haste or protracted study.

"I should have started playing the dummy years ago," chortled Y.

Then he proceeded to draw trumps, discard another club on the other high diamond, lead a second spade and rise with the queen. This time A was ready with the ace, led the seven of spades and B sitting East collected the setting trick with the jack.

"Just as I remarked earlier," said Z. "You should stick to putting me in the declarer's seat. I would never have fallen for A's flummery with the ace of spades, but actually I would not have had to try for two spade tricks. The clubs broke 3-3.

You had enough entries to dummy to set the last club up for a spade discard. Start by throwing two clubs on the ace and king of diamonds."

"All right," said Y. "Right as usual," said poor Y. "I do need practice at dummy play."

Zoning amendment eyed for used car sales in T.F.

TWIN FALLS — Planning and zoning board members of Twin Falls will recommend to the city council an amendment to the city zoning ordinance be adopted to allow the sale of used cars in commercial local zones so long as such sales are in connection with new car sales and services.

The action was announced Wednesday by city building inspector Reed Coulam following a city zoning meeting Tuesday night.

Consideration of such an amendment was brought up in connection with the request of Ace Hansen Chevrolet Co., which wishes to build a new car sale and service agency on Blue Lakes Boulevard North on land inside the city limits. A similar agency across the boulevard is allowed under county zoning and is not inside the city limits.

John Reeder, zoning board chairman, conducted the Tuesday night meeting. Other business included approval of the Esquire Estates, a new 10-acre sub-division just annexed to the city and located on Falls Avenue where Locust Street would intersect if completed. The sub-division is zoned residential low density.

A request was received from the Twin Falls County Farm Bureau officials for variance of yard limits to allow for expansion of their building on Addison Avenue. The zoning board set May 24 at 8 p.m. as the time for a public hearing on the request.

Assessors end appraisal seminar

SHOSHONE — County assessors and their deputies from eight Magic Valley counties concluded a three day appraisal seminar in Shoshone Wednesday with a field trip and practice appraisal of real property.

About 30 county officials have been attending the Idaho Tax Commission sponsored program to assist appraisers in setting true market values on real property for tax roll purposes.

Al Austin and Mal Ramsey, both members of the tax commission, have conducted the Lincoln County meeting, one of several being held in the gem state this spring.

On Monday a basic introduction to real property appraisal was covered with ramifications of the cost approach discussed on Tuesday. The "walking through" cost approach and "fielding" of a building were explained.

Application of adjustments to costs of real estate was explained and Harrell Thorne, real estate broker of Shoshone, spoke on "Looking at Real Property Through the Eyes of a Real Estate Broker."

Also covered were the market approach and determining market data through use of the rating grid.

Wednesday assessors and fieldmen visited a number of homes in Shoshone and were given an opportunity to establish appraisal values under the guidance of state officials.

The seminar was scheduled to end Wednesday afternoon with a review of the information presented during the three days and a question and answer session.

GOODING — Sheriff Earl Brown of Gooding County has turned records in the murder death of Clara Mickelson, 65, Eugene, Ore., over to the FBI.

Brown said the FBI has entered the case because of the possibility of an interstate kidnapping. Mrs. Mickelson's body was found Feb. 21 in a stream in Gooding County. She disappeared from her home in Oregon on March 6, 1970.

Brown said it has not yet been established whether the woman died in Idaho or Oregon but if it is established the death occurred in Gooding County, he will reopen his investigation.

Mrs. Mickelson's car was found later in the Gooding area.

Children playing along a stream in the Hagerman area found the body.

Wednesday assessors and fieldmen visited a number of homes in Shoshone and were given an opportunity to establish appraisal values

under the guidance of state officials.

The seminar was scheduled to end Wednesday afternoon with a review of the information presented during the three days and a question and answer session.

State health officials decided bringing in food from many homes was unsanitary and too difficult to trace when there was a case of food poisoning.

Organizations are now urged to have meals prepared in licensed kitchens.
